SEATTLE.

Mrs. A. K. Wagh has returned home after three months visiting in Chicago. She reports a fine time and is especially pleased with the many courtesies shown by her deaf friends.

Miss Thelma McConnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. McConnell, is now visiting in Chicago, and may stay there several months.

Mr. Hugo A. Holcombe has been conducting services as Lay Reader at St. Mark's Episcopal Church twice a month since last March. On Oct. 9th he held a service at St. Luke's Church in Tacoma, with an attendance of eighteen at the first meeting.

Mrs. DeWitt Tousey died August 18th at the age of 79. She was educated at the Hartford School, and her maiden name was Sophronia McClure. She was married in 1864 to DeWitt Tousey, then a teacher in the School at Hartford. Mr. Tousey is 87 years old and has been totally blind for several years. He was educated in the Ohio School, and taught for a while in the Iowa School when it was located at Iowa City. Then he went to Hartford and remained several years. After his marriage he came west and settled in Minnesota, where he followed the printing trade until defective eyesight compelled him to give it up. He is living with his son, Orr Tousey, in Seattle.

Mr. John E. Gustin, the pioneer deaf resident in Seattle, is confined to his house in rather weak condition due to leaking heart.

The Lutheran Mission under the direction of Rev. Geo. W. Gaertner is preparing to build a new church for the exclusive use of the deaf. The lot has been purchased, the plans prepared, and the work on the building will start soon. Mr. W. E. Brown is Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

A Halloween Social was held Oct. 29, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bodley, attended by about fifty guests. Old fashioned games were played, then the guests had the privilege of meeting and shaking hands with a real live ghost. The hand of the ghost was a rubber glove filled with ice, which brought an appropriate shiver to the inquisitive. The ladies brought sandwiches, the gentlemen fruit, and Mr. Bodley, who is a baker, furnished delicious cake, all you could eat and then some. The Bodleys moved into their present home only a few months ago. It is a spacious nine room house, beautifully finished, a "sewelling place," as several guests remarked, located in a very good residence district. Mrs. Bodley, who before marriage was Myrtle Hammond, of Minnesota, has a talent for drawing and painting, and several of her pictures adorn the walls. Mrs. Bodley, sister of Mr. Bodley, assisted in providing for the comforts of the company.

Among those present were the following: Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Partridge, Dr. and Mrs. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Adams, of Renton, Mr. and Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Zeigler, Mrs. Klawitter, Mrs. Wagh, Mrs. Dortero, Mrs. West, Mrs. Wojciechowski, Mr. and Mrs. Pierson, of Lowell, Mr. and Mrs. Root, Mrs. Ecker from Tacoma, Misses Jessie Busby, Gladys Hess, Rosie Clays, Clementine Gerson, Ethel Carr, Messrs. L. O. Christenson, Chas. Al. Gumaer, Andrew Genner, Hugo. A. Holcombe, of Bremerton, Bryan Wilson, Leonard Rasmussen, Sam Schneider, John Hagadorn, Arthur Martin, Arthur Fisher, Aug. Koberstein, Rex Oliver from Everett, Glenn McNeish from Tacoma, and Platt Connick from Walla Walla.

Mr. Roy Harris has a steady job as a carpenter, building a large hospital in Wenatchee. Lawrence Belser is doing well as a photographer in Wenatchee. He was in Seattle recently on business. Arthur Martin, Edward Martin, Joe Kirshbaum, George Thomas, George Sherman, A. Reinier, and several others have been assisting in harvesting the apple crop at Wenatchee. Christopher Smith, of Leavenworth, is doing well with his own tailor shop. He contemplates going to Kansas City in December to visit his wife and baby, who are staying there.

Rex Oliver has a steady job as assistant order clerk in a sash and door factory at Everett.

Miss Martin Hanson is a senior, and Alice Hanson is freshman in the University of Washington. In an intelligence test just held Marion led her class with a score of 214 out of a possible 220. These tests are held from time to time, and are similar to those held in the army during the war for the promotion of officers. Last spring she was elected a member of the Phi Sigma Chi, a national sorority of professional and business women.

The grass is green, roses and many other flowers are in bloom, berries are growing in the garden, and this is Seattle the last day of October, nineteen twenty-one.

O. HANSON.

The Sage of Oregon has us all holding up our hands in awe and wonder at his matchless ability in smelling news and getting it. I am impelled to offer the following:

If Anyone Has Killed a pig, shot his wife, got married, borrowed a stamp, made a speech, joined the army, robbed a bank, brought a Ford, sold a dog, lost his wallet, gone fishing, broke his neck, bought a house, committed suicide, shot a cat, been away, come back home, moved his office, taken a vacation, been in a fight, got licked, has no oil stock, got rich, made a bad bet, it's news—SEND IT TO MUELLER.

I admire his straight from the shoulder preaching to the deaf to stick to their jobs. Old Daddy Esop tells a Hot One about a Hare and a Tortoise that pulled off a Marathon between Scylla and Charybdis or some other antediluvian Burg. The Bookmakers investigated reports from the rival Training Camps and decided gleefully that Bets on the Hare would be a Soft Killing. The Great Day came and toward sunset the spectators were awaiting the finish of the race, when, Lo, the Tortoise hove into sight first, traveling with much vim and vigor! Everyone alleged Foul Play and started back over the route to see what had happened to the Hare. They found him ensconced under a Bush, sound asleep! It seems he had run about Half the distance in a little less than Nothing, and seeing the Soap he had sat down to Rest. Sleep overcame him and the Tortoise Coasted by. The Moral is plain—the Plunger who shows Stamina and Courage wins, whether it be in Races, Business or Love.

Count up your deaf acquaintances who have stuck their jobs and those who have not, and see which have the most of this world's goods. W. S. Root, proprietor of Root's Printery, gets all mused up in auto accident on Sunset Highway. "Escapes with minor scratches and bruises, however. Says he was on his way to Snoqualmie Falls and he saw "some falls." Can not explain the accident, unless it might be that his machine was too cuffed and objected to conveying a load of Roots out into the country.—The Stick, official Paper of Seattle Mass Printer.

L. O. Christenson and W. S. Root are busy in their respective printing offices. Those who don't know how wicked a printing office really is, should read the following clipping:—

Unobserved and unannounced, the president of a "ladies aid" society entered the composing room of a newspaper just in time to hear these words issue from the mouth of the boss-printer: "Billy, go to the devil and tell him to finish that 'murder' he began this morning. Then 'kill' William J. Bryan's youngest grandchild, and dump the 'Sweet Angel of Mercy' into the hell-box. Then make up that 'Naughty Parisian Actress,' and lock up 'The Lady in Her Boudoir.' Horrified, the good woman fled, and her children wonder why they are not allowed to play with the printer's youngsters.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A letter from Spokane gives us this following items: A. J. Sackville West has his new home nearly paid for. He is working as draughtsman for Riggs and Vantyne. His three-year old boy is already spelling such words as dog, cat, boy, etc.

J. H. O'Leary is still working on a daily and pulling in $42.50 per week.

John Frisby is working as core-maker at $7.00 per day. Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Chambers have a daughter, born about October 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell have a daughter, born October 30th. Mrs. Howell was formerly Miss Hontchkins.

J. W. Cross is foreman of a Great Northern Machine Shop. His wife was formerly Miss Edith Harden, of Montana.

We hear that E. H. Whitehead, of Vancouver, B. C., who has worked in the post office at Sidney, N. S. W. for a year. Mr. Whitehead is sure going some. Has been around the world once, and I believe twice. Been married twice, and is a bail fellow, well met. The JOURNAL should get in touch with him if he makes this change, and make arrangements for some news from that section.

The Sage of Oregon seems to be troubled about signing his own name to his articles. It's certainly right for him to sign his own name just as I do my own to this. If he would only mention that he is the heir of an eastern aunt, it might bring in something more than mere news letters.

The small attendance at the late State convention at Vancouver is laid to hard times. I venture the assertion that the small attendance was due to lack of interest rather than lack of money. When people are interested they will "get there" some way. At the State Convention in Seattle two years ago, the Resolution Committee suggested that a circular be sent out occasionally to keep up interest, and let the people know what was going on. This brought forth a discussion something like the following:

Divine: "We should save our money for the Home Fund and not spend it."

O'Leary: "To spend money for that is robbery. I am opposed to robbery."

Chambers: "O'Leary and Divine forever."

Skoglund: "Ditto."

Hanson: "O'Leary and Divine are right. Amen."

Wright: "Modern progress demands enlightened. The suggestion is O. K., and should be adopted."

Garrison: "Chicago never would have had such a big fire if the cow had not hitled over the lantern. Let's do something."

Hollinger: "A club house is what I want."

Mueller: "A college education and yearly inheritance."

Result was the suggestion of the committee was voted down. Result: no one has known for the last two years what was being done, hence no interest. I remember in 1910 when the Observer was booming.

It boosted the N. A. D. in every issue. Result: A crowd from this section went in special car away to Colorado Springs. How many have attended the N. A. D. from this section since the Observer died? Mighty few. Get up interest and you will get the crowd, hard or good times.

This is not a reflection on the Vancouver Local Committee. They doubtless made the best of an unfortunate situation. President O'Leary also showed good sense in holding the convention any way, in spite of threatened small attendance. Let's hope that the present State officers get a move on them, and stir up some interest before the next convention in Spokane, in 1923, making her a hummer.

Lawrence Belser, who has been in Winatchee since last spring, motored over to Ellensburg, thence and Yakima and Seattle recently. He is doing finely in Winatchee. The big apple crop this year is making that town rich. By the way, Larry's friends will be surprised to know that he is not allowed to sleep under the same roof as his mother. His mother is in charge of the Y. W. C. A. of that town, and as no more men are allowed around, Larry has to kiss his ma good night out in the street.

William Brisky has a fine apple ranch at Leavenworth near Winatchee. Will is a bachelor of good habits.

Roy Harris is working on the new hospital, and will be there for several months yet. Mrs. Harris is improving in health.

Arthur Martin was down to Winatchee picking apples, but is back in Seattle, working at his old job.

Robert Portudge celebrated his 7th birthday with a party October 29th. Among those present were Herbert Ziegler, Milo Root and Maurice Boston. Robert recently won a prize in school.

Herbert Ziegler started into school this fall. Mrs. Alfred Wagh has returned from Chicago, delighted with her visit.

Platt Connack motored up from Walla Walla recently, and attended the Frat party at Bodleys.

The monthly social of the Frats was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bodley, on 23d Avenue North, Saturday evening, October 29th. It was a rainy night, but quite a goodly number turned out. The Bodleys have a fine new home and the arrangements for the evening were well made and carried out. When lunch was ready numbers were given out, and this caused some amusing complications. But the lunch was satisfying.

The Lutheran Board of Missions is to erect a $8,000 church for the deaf in Seattle. It is located on the corner of 15th Avenue and East Spring Street. We understand that Rev. Mr. Gaertner, who is in charge, has already let the contract. The frame proper will be erected by a bearing firm, but I believe the inside work will be done by deaf men, with Robert Patterson in charge.

The church room proper will be above, below will be a social room for the use of the deaf in general. A wing to the south will contain a two-story residence for the pastor's family. It is expected the money for the inside furnishings will be raised by Seattle deaf and their friends. The Master Printers Association of Seattle has donated $25.00 for this purpose.

Rev. Mr. Gaertner has proven himself a true friend of the deaf since coming to Seattle. Not only in preaching, but in sickness, and in securing work for them. In fact, he has become almost a full employment agency for the deaf. Such faithfulness has not been lost on the deaf.

The result is that many not of his faith are giving him hearty support. In fact, I believe he has the good will of all right thinking deaf. May his usefulness continue here.

The annual Frat election comes off in December, as far as known, no one is hankering for office.

Cyril Vincent was struck by an auto a month ago and somewhat bruised. He spent two weeks in the County Hospital.

Carl Garrison was in town recently on his return to Stanwood, he was thrown off of a truck and received injuries that laid him up for two weeks. His Seattle friends want to know how he came to fall off.

Max Gebhardt is still wrestling with legal problems. Max should have been a lawyer.

Chas Gumaer is living on his ranch north of town, and comes in to his work daily. Strikes us a good wife would not be out of place there.

The Seattle Post Intelligencer is now owned by Hearst, so it is said.

Eighteen new linotypes are soon to be installed. A. W. Wright and Chas. Gumaer have been employed by the P. I. for about twenty years, and will probably remain a while yet.

Oscar Larson was in town last month on his way to Minnesota. He will probably return to Los Angeles, and still he and wife may yet make Seattle their home again.

Mrs. Stella Boston and son are with her brother, John Bodley. Mrs. John Clark has been quite ill, but is improving.

Sidney Rains has steady work in the Pacific Outfitting Co. People say it always rains in Seattle. Does it? The writer has not worn rubbers, or used an umbrella for several years, does not even own a rain coat. He is out around town more or less every day too. Must be it don't rain so much as people say.

Andy Genner still holds down his position at Towman and Handford's print shop.

Mrs. Barbara Wildfau is keeping house for the Morris family.

Mrs. A. H. Koberstein remains in about her usual health. She is still at Firland.

Jesse West and son, Will, are prospecting in Alaska. Mr. West, who was to go up there last spring, has not yet started.

Arthur West is running a candy-making business of his own. Ethel Carr is one of his employees.

C. K. McConnell is busy painting houses. Mr. and Mrs. McConnell are now grandparents to a baby girl, born to their son, Walter and wife, the last of October.

Miss Beulah McConnell is visiting relatives in Chicago.

Rex Oliver comes up from Everett to the Seattle's doings every little while.

Jessie Busby still retains her position at the Crescent Co.

Mrs. Mae Wyz was up from Everett to the Bodley social.

Miss Mabel Stengel, of Tacoma, takes subscriptions for periodicals and does quite a business. Several from Seattle order through her.

John Dortero and family have moved to John Bodley's old house on Cart Valley Street. Mr. Dortero still retains his old job.

She who was Alberta Wright, with her husband are now keeping house. The bride's grandfather gave her $100 and later $500 more with which to buy furniture.

Notary Public True Partridge now drives an auto. He is lucky. The firm for which he is bookkeeper allowed him to use the machinery, so he is not put in the expense of buying.

Newspapers report O. Hanson held up and robbed of $3.00. We are not informed if this is Dr. Olof. Any way, who wants to lose $3.00 these times. Perhaps it was just a Halloween joke.

Claude Zeigler has a new wrinkle in poultry raising. He seems to specialize in double yolk eggs. Of four boiled eggs opened recently three were double yolk. They came from the Zeigler ranch. Claude's good wife gave him a birthday party on the 23d of October. The Wrights and a number of relatives were present.

John E. Gustin was taken very ill some weeks ago, but was able to be out to church last Sunday. He has lived in Seattle longer than any of the other local deaf. He came here from Chicago, and saw his first electric cars here, so Seattle beat Chicago in one thing.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Our Redeemer's Church for the Deaf will have a bazaar sale soon. I do not know the exact date.

Courtland Greenwald is in town this week. He has been working in the orchards at Yakima, but returns to his job in Portland next Monday. At Yakima he worked in a thousand acre orchard. In the same orchard were working, Jerry Stewart, J. Conley, E. Johnston, Mr. Campbell, and I think some other deaf. Work will continue a month or two yet in the orchards.

Francis Robinson and Bertha Seipp have been working in the Yakima orchards, making about $3.50 per day of ten hours. There are very many girls working there. Girls do the sorting, I believe.

Mr. and Mrs. Key have just moved into a new home at Yakima.

Ed. Miland has ten acres of orchard from which he is making some money this year.

While the apple crop is a failure in many sections this year, Winatchee and Yakima have a big crop, and big money is being made by fortunate owners of orchards.

With apologies to the Sage of Oregon.

A boy in Newcastle, Indiana, found $1,300 worth of gold in a pot while digging a basement under a house. A daughter of the former owner of the house, and the farmer who now owns the place, both laid claim to the gold, but the judge ruled that "finders are keepers."

DENVER.

One day recently Bob Frewing and T. Y. Northern went hunting. The net results of their trip being three cotton tail bunnies and one jack rabbit. It would have been more if T. Y. had been able to catch one he shot and wounded. It happened that while he was giving a war dance and yelling at his luck, the bunny got up and started off. Thereupon T. Y. gave chase, and as he was some sprinter in his college days he was able to overtake the bunny. After making several futile grabs at it, he managed to get hold of its tail, only to find the tail slipped from in his hand. He redoubled his efforts, and made a last desperate grab at it, as it dived for its hole, and just then he tripped over a stump and took a header. As a result the rabbit got away and T. Y. is limping around with a barked shin.

Mr. Clarke, of Chicago, has returned, as he was unable to find any work in his line of book binding.

A number of the Colorado School for the Deaf teachers from Colorado Springs recently were in Denver, to attend the State Teachers' Convention. While here, Mrs. Veditz dropped in on the masquerade party, October 23d, and renewed old acquaintances.

A large crowd turned out to attend the Masquerade Ball on the evening of October 23d.

Not more than half were in costume, but those in costume made a good showing. There were first and second prizes, for both men and ladies. For the ladies, Mrs. Ray Cummings, dressed as a witch, took first, and Mrs. H. E. Grace, as Minnie, second. For the men, John McGuire took first, and Geo. Huff second.

Many of the costumes were weird, the ladies easily outdoing the men in the ability to make up. About the funniest thing of the evening was H. E. Grace, dressed up in a half Uncle Sam costume, and padding soap. He had a place card on which was printed the following humorous sketch:—

Notice—Having lost my deafness in the Great War, I am forced to make a living peddling soap. I have no dependents, but have a father named John Rockefeller, who has more money than he can carry around at one time. This soap is superb for the complexion, as it is made of lye, nitric acid and 33 per cent T. N. T., and for that reason is guaranteed to give you an entirely new complexion over night, or your money stolen. Will you not help a rich young man earn a dishonest penny?

John Kiltham is up and around again, after being in a hospital for an operation. Rumor has it that marriage bells will ring for John and Miss Hodgkins before long. John is employed at the Iset Auto Body Company, along with Joe Wilkins and William Skeehan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fisher gave a farewell dinner to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Quinn, on October 23d. The Quins departed for the western slope the same afternoon, where they will engage in farming. It is to be regretted that this young couple has deserted Denver, but the call of soil was too strong for them to resist. Full particulars of their intended farming operations have not yet been ascertained.

It appeared that the proposed basket ball team of Silents has died aborning, as there seems to be no more interest in it at present than in a trip to the moon.

The recently formed Bible Class at St. Mark's Episcopal Church is still going strong. Because the Parish Hall is used evening, during the winter months, by a Young Men's Class, the silents found it necessary to hunt for another room. The rector was very kind about it, and gave them the use of a small chapel, adjoining the main building. This is just the right size for those who have interest enough to attend the meetings. It is to be hoped a regular minister can be secured soon.

On the evening of October 29th, a large crowd turned out to the Liberty Club's Mask Party. A large variety of original costumes were worn. Mrs. Cummings, in the role of a hardup washerwoman, again captured first prize for the ladies, although given a close run by Mrs. Huff, who was awarded second. Mr. Gaffeski carried off the honors for the men, and Mr. Wolpert took second. Nearly all the juveniles, who attended the party with their parents were in costume. The smallest one in costume was Tommy Collins, Jr.

Ray Cummings has at last decided to build a castle of his own, on two lots, south east of Washington Park, and we understand that work has already started out on it.

T. H. Tansey is about the only breeder of pure-bred dogs among the deaf in Colorado. He just got a litter of seven of the cutest Alredales around town. Several times his dogs have been entered in dog shows, but we doubt if they have as yet carried off more than one blue ribbon.

Bob Frewing carried out his weekly hunting campaign again on Sunday, October 30th. He took fishing rod and tackle and his gun along, and returned with two big jacks, two perch just above the law requirement, but not a duck felt a shock from his Stevens, although he attempted to add a few to his pack of game.

C. P. Jones just returned from a trip to Pueblo. He attended to the moving of a house from his ranch outside of the Pueblo City limits to a lot, which he recently purchased in the town. This was a wise move, for had he left the house idle on the ranch he would not have gained anything.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bates, of Greeley, Col., a baby girl.

DENVERITES.

Deaf-Mutes Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

On Sunday afternoon, November 6th 1921, at 3 P.M., Mr. and Mrs. William Nebel, of 15 Patchen Avenue, both deaf-mutes, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the Immanuel Lutheran Church at 177 South 9th Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. The services were conducted by the Reverend Arthur Boll, pastor of the Lutheran Mission for the Deaf, of New York City, and were attended by many relatives and friends.

They were married in 1871 in the old city of New York by the eminent divine, the Rev. Thos. Gallaudet, a life-long friend of the deaf and dumb in this country.

The mutes were the recipients of many beautiful gifts from relatives and old friends, and a handsome golden wreath was presented to them by the members of the Lutheran Mission for the Deaf of this city, of which they are also members.

Following the service at the Immanuel Church, a number of kind-folks and friends gathered at the home of the aged deaf-mute couple to do them honor and to extend their heartiest congratulations to them on this memorable occasion.

Among those present at the noteworthy event were the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Nebel, Mrs. Elizabeth Berger, and her daughter, Minna, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Nebel and family, Mrs. Kenny, Mr. Albert Kadgish, Mr. Frank Nebel, Mr. Gustav T. Nebel Mr. Smith, Miss Christaussen, Mr. A. Berg, Rev. Arthur Boll, Mr. G. Arwinski, Mrs. Lyks, and a number of other old friends and acquaintances.

Deaf-Mutes' Journal

NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 17, 1921.

EDWIN A. HODGSON, Editor.

THE DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL (published by the New York Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb, at 1033 Broadway, New York City) is the best paper for deaf-mutes published; it contains the latest news and correspondence; the best writers contribute to it.

TERMS.

One Copy, one year, - $3.00
To Canada and Foreign Countries, - 2.50

CONTRIBUTIONS.

All contributions must be accompanied with the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Correspondents are alone responsible for views and opinions expressed in their communications.

Contributions, subscriptions and business letters to be sent to the

DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL,
Station M, New York City.

"He's true to God who's true to man:
Wherever wrong is done,
To the humblest and the weakest,
'Neath the all-beholding sun,
That wrong is also done to us,
And they are slaves most base,
Whose love of right is for themselves,
And not for all the race."

Notice concerning the whereabouts of individuals will be charged at the rate of ten cents a line.

Specimen copies sent to any address on receipt of five cents.

SEVERAL of the deaf who reside in the populous cities have complained of getting the JOURNAL late during the past couple of weeks. Just charge it to the millions of electroneering materials that have clogged the mails, and look for a repetition of delay at Christmas and New Year's. The JOURNAL always goes to the Post Office Wednesday afternoons.

If Jimmie Meagher thinks that he is the only one who tosses off quatrains, just because he can't help it, let him focus his optics upon the following, which is a gentle but impromptu complaint that was cheerfully and quickly rectified,

My JOURNAL's very often late,
And yet I blame it not on Fate,
Just look at that address of mine—
It should be six instead of nine.

THE Publicity Committee of the New York Branch of the National Association of the Deaf has planned to print and issue a card containing the MANUAL ALPHABET. Through this means it hopes to disseminate among the hearing public this mode of communicating with the deaf. We know its value, its clearness, rapidity, and certainty of being understood, and know, further, that its general use by the hearing when addressing the deaf would be helpful and pleasant to us all. At the coming meeting of the New York Branch on November 22d, this plan to print 20,000 cards and to distribute them will be submitted to the members for approval. The Committee relies on your help, in every way, to distribute the cards at points and places where they will do the most good.

MR. ALEXANDER L. PACH has favored the JOURNAL with a large portrait of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, made with rare fidelity of execution from a painting now owned by Mr. Edson F. Gallaudet, which is considered the best portrait in existence by all the members of the Gallaudet family.

Mr. Pach reproduced this painting in order to make, for the Alumni of the Texas School for the Deaf, a portrait for that body to present to their Alma Mater on December 10th, and Pach decided to make a number of reproductions of the portrait, so that he can have them available for any and all purposes. The copy presented to the JOURNAL shows it to be a notable reproduction worthy of a place in any school, home or office.

Gift to a Deaf-Mute Clergyman.

The gift of a handsome mahogany desk was made to the Rev. Oliver J. Whildin, of Baltimore, by his co-workers in the Province of Washington, at a recent meeting held in the Maryland Diocesan House, Baltimore. The presentation was made as a mark of appreciation for his long and faithful labors as Secretary-Treasurer of the Society for the Promotion of Church Work among the Deaf, which he founded in 1916. The Rev. Mr. Whildin has resigned the arduous labors of his office in other hands, and will henceforth devote his entire time and attention to his missions in Maryland.

Gallaudet College.

All eyes are turned to Washington. Events are about to transpire in the city, which in their ultimate effect will influence profoundly, for weal or woe, the destinies of all peoples. Under the sponsorship of the United States the nations are getting together to work out some practical scheme limit armaments. Will the age-long yearning of all true Christians be at last partially or wholly realized, or will they see with disillusioned eyes, the nations returning to their old ways of preparing for war in the midst of peace? None of us know, but all of us hope that the conference will usher in a new era of real peace and concord between nations.

Washington is keenly alive to what is going on within her confines. With the arrival of each body of delegates, she turned out large crowds to give them a welcome.

Practically every member of the student body witnessed the solemn procession down Pennsylvania Avenue on the morning of Armistice Day, when the remains of the unknown American Soldier were borne to his last resting place in Arlington National Cemetery.

On the evening of Armistice Day the young men and Co-eds turned out to see the "illumination." This was staged in the vicinity of the Pan-American building. It was a wonderful exhibition of the artistic effects that can be produced by colored electric lighting and reflectors.

The candidates for Admission to the Kappa Gamma Fraternity are: Louis Aronovitz, '23, of Kentucky; John Quincy Seipp, '24, of Washington; Charles Schragar, '24, of Pennsylvania; Alfred Eugene Stephens, '24, of Oklahoma.

Under the direction of the Y. W. C. A., an interesting program was arranged for afternoon chapel services on Sunday, November 13th.

Opening Prayer—Lulu Wilson, '24. Hymn—"Onward Christian Soldiers," Sydney Leclerc, '24. Lecture—Dr. Hawking Yen (Delegate from China to the Limitation of Armament Conference.) Closing Prayer—La Reine Roper, '23.

Mrs. Emily E. Sterck, '20, who is teaching in the Staunton, Virginia, School for the Deaf, paid a visit to her Alma Mater during the week end.

The excellent showing made by our boys against the George Washington eleven was the occasion for a "demonstration" on the evening of the 11th at 10 o'clock.

A big bonfire was made south of Dawes House and then a snake-line marched around Faculty Row and up and down the Green.

Gallaudet, 7. G. W. U., 7

The Gallaudet football team, whose performance in previous games seemed to indicate that they were victims of a strange sleeping sickness, suddenly came to life on Armistice Day afternoon, and bottled the bulky George Washington University eleven to a 7-7 all score. The surprise our light but plucky eleven gave the G. W. U. team was genuine, as the G. W. U. team was rated two or three touchdowns better than ours.

G. W. took the field confident that their heavy eleven, which outweighed us 10 pounds to the man, would run roughshod over the Buff and Blue. However, as the game proceeded, they realized that they were in for a merry battle, and did their best to pierce our line, which held safely whenever G. W. looked threatening. The only means of advance the G. W. team could devise was via the aerial route.

G. W. registered sixteen first downs, while Gallaudet was able to gather only two. This will be better understood when it is explained that Gallaudet chose to play a defensive game, leaving the offensive plays to G. W.

Both scores were results of "breaks of the game." Early in the first period Springston of G. W. was so viciously tackled that the ball slipped from his grasp. The ever wide-awake Seipp grabbed the pigskin and raced 60 yards for the first touchdown of the game. La Fountain kicked goal.

G. W. registered her score in the closing minutes of the first half. The ball was on Gallaudet's 14-yard line, and La Fountain dropped back to the 5-yard line in an attempt to punt. Hughes broke through the line and blocked the punt, the ball rolling behind our goal. A G. W. man fell on it for a touchdown. Hughes kicked goal.

Time and again the G. W. team was within easy striking distance of our goal, only they did not find it easy to advance. Three times they were halted inside our 20-yard line on downs. G. W. resorted to drop kicks without success. La Fountain could always be depended on to boot the ball to midfield.

As mentioned above, the aerial attack was G. W.'s only successful means of advance. Time and again the fighting Gallaudet forwards spoiled many a seemingly completed pass. The way the G. W. men were brought to earth was indeed a thing to marvel over. The Gallaudet players tackled hard and low—we are sorry Walter Camp was not present, for he would have seen some good material for his all-America eleven, especially line men.

Near the close, G. W. battled desperately, attempting many forward passes. However, the Buff and Blue was equal to the task of holding them safe.

We consider this a victory for our team, because G. U. had expected to crush us with their excess avoirdupois. Critics rated them far superior to us in record and all-round playing qualities. However, they were gracious enough to concede us a fighting chance—we took it, you know.

Gallaudet played as she had never played before. The men were game to the core, and if it had not been for their grit and spirit there is no telling what the score would have been. The whole team played fine football, although the work of La Fountain, Baynes, Connor, Lahn, and Seipp was noteworthy. The line-up and summary:

On Nov. 5th Gallaudet's rosters, comprising the greater part of the student body, boarded two special trains for Annapolis, where they saw our lads play St. John's Military College in the morning. After lunching at a Y. W. C. A. cafeteria, they witnessed the Navy-Bucknell game. Before leaving Annapolis, they visited places of interest on the Naval Academy ground, returning at about supper time.

Gallaudet, 7. St. John's College, 31.

The Gallaudet football warriors, accompanied by a crowd of enthusiastic rosters, journeyed to Annapolis Saturday last, where they suffered a 31 to 7 defeat at the hands of the heavy St. John's eleven. The Buff and Blue was minus the service of some of her best players, while many others were in a crippled condition.

Gallaudet fought a plucky, uphill battle, and managed to outplay St. John's during the first half, holding them to the small end of a 7-3 score. The first period saw Gallaudet receive the kick-off. She managed to make several gains around the wings of the Cadet team. St. John's was forced to punt early in the game, but LaFountain blocked the punt and Connor grabbed the ball to race 55 yards for a touchdown. LaFountain kicked goal.

Neither side was able to make any noticeable gains during the second period. The ball was constantly changing hands until St. John's worked it to Gallaudet's 35-yard line where the cadets registered a field goal. The half ended with the score standing 7 to 3 in favor of the Buff and Blue.

The second half opened with a slashing attack by the Cadets. The Buff and Blue line was powerless to stop the opposing backs, who carried the ball across for three touchdowns. Gallaudet's line of defense was woefully weak, and her offense was poor. Time and again our backs would be tackled before they had gotten fairly started with the ball. The period ended with St. John's at the front of a 24-7 count.

The final period saw the Buff and Blue present a much improved style of play. St. John's was able to score one more touchdown, bringing her scoring total up to 31 points. Gallaudet made several long gains chiefly on end runs and trick plays, but the rally was staged too late to accomplish any good. Final score—31-7.

La Fountain was the only Buff and Blue player able to gain effectively. The work of Lucado, Lahn, Connor, and Langenberg, was also good. The line-up and summary:

OFFICIAL

DR L'EPEE STATUE COMMITTEE

The De l'Epee Statue Committee of the National Association of the Deaf has been re-organized with a view to a more vigorous campaign for money to erect a monument to the memory of the great French benefactor, who with his brilliant attainments went so far out of his way to engage in the lowly but noble endeavor to bring to light the minds of the then neglected young deaf, rather than to shine in the pulpit and to earn greater emoluments.

His birthday anniversary falls on November 24th, and every man, woman or child is urged to contribute his mite in honor of this occasion.

Mr. Elmer V. Peters, of Mississippi has been appointed to the Committee to serve in the South and Mr. David S. Luddy, of California, was another notable addition to the Committee to represent the Far West.

Any one desiring to contribute is kindly asked to forward the money to the member of the Committee who has charge of the territory in which the contributor lives. The country is divided into five sections and the address of each member is herewith given:

Samuel Frankenheim, 18 West 107th Street, New York, in charge of territory covering Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Elmer V. Peters, 133 Longino Street, Jackson, Miss., in charge of territory covering North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

David S. Luddy, 124 Primrose Road, Burlingame, California, in charge of territory covering Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho and Utah.

Miss Anna M. Roper, 2620 Clifton Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., in charge of territory covering Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Kansas and Illinois.

Anton Schroeder, 2172 Carroll Avenue, St. Paul, Minn., in charge of territory covering Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and Iowa.

The press for the deaf everywhere in the United States and Canada will please make a copy of the above announcement so as to aid in the acceleration of the accomplishment of the Statue Fund, approved and authorized by the National Association of the Deaf in session at Cleveland.

Fraternally yours,
SAMUEL FRANKENHEIM,
Chairman.

PHILADELPHIA.

A most pleasant Hallowe'en party was held on Saturday night, October 29th. At Mr. Wolf's house, the interior of which was profusely decorated for the occasion. The invited guests, all masqueraded, began assembling at the house at about 10 o'clock. The costumes worn were considered excellent, some provoking laughter, and the others so original and handsome they would be prize winners at any public masquerade party. The night was chiefly spent in Hallowe'en games and dancing. At midnight supper was served in the dining room, and its best feature was the cuisine, that would amaze the chefs at the Bellevue-Stratford or the Adelphia. Early in the morning, the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Owl Cars and the Yellow Cab Taxies were the means of conveying the happy but tired revellers to their respective homes in the four corners of the vast Philadelphia.

Those honoring the party with their presence, and the character of the costumes worn follows:

Miss Mary Pennell, Clown; Miss Beryl Kendall, Scotch Girl; Miss Rosa Corrado, Gypsy Girl; Miss Anna Hagan, Summer Sport; Miss Helen Fittwell, Powder Puff Girl; Miss Katherine Pennergast, Irish Lassie; Miss Hannah Stanton, American Beauty; Miss Katherine McLaughlin, Ballet Girl; Miss Pauline Roller, Beau Brummel; Mr. Albert Wolf, Ballet Girl; Mr. Robert Bennett, Faunt; Mr. John A. Roach, An English Nobleman; Mr. James L. Jennings, Pierrette; Mr. William I. Smith, Coon; Mr. Bernard McGinley, Irishman; Mr. James Barrett, Coxie; Mr. Hugh Cusack, Sailor; Mr. Francis O'Donnell, Clown; Mr. Robert Robinson, Spanish Girl; Mr. Walter Wilson, Fat Man.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

We arrived in Washington, D. C., October 3d, from two months' trip to the West Indies. We found the Capital weather very pleasant but cooler.

The city is getting crowded on account of the Armament Conference. We are going to stay in Washington for the winter. The first enjoyable, social we attended was given at the Calvary Baptist Church, October 10th. A Comic dialogue on "Six Feet of White Lies," between Gerald Ferguson and Roger Scott, was very amusing. Then Rev. Mr. Bryant spoke for an hour on the "Peculiarities of the Great Authors and Poets," of which I will quote a few for the benefit of the gentle readers:

Keats liked red pepper on his toast; Dickens was a dude—fond of wearing flashy jewelry; Joaquin Miller would nail all chairs he secured to the walls. Ernest Renan was fond of keeping finger nails abnormally long. Daudet always went to sleep with his eyeglasses on.

Victor Hugo spoke little, but his remarks and questions were always severe and sharp.

Thackeray never omitted to doff his hat whenever he passed the house in which he wrote "Vanity Fair."

Alexander Dumas, the younger, would buy a new painting for every new book he wrote.

Robert L. Stevenson's favorite recreation was a flute, and he tuned it to help up his ideas.

Robert Browning could not sit still, with the constant shuffling of his feet holes were worn in the carpet.

Longfellow was fond of walking during sunrise and sunset and writing during daytime. He always thought the Americans don't buy his books.

Washington Irving never mentioned the name of his fiancée after her death. When mentioned he left the room quickly.

Hawthorne always washed his hands before reading letters from his wife.

Macaulay always kept the closets crammed with vests and coats which he never wore.

Disraeli wore corsets, and the older he grew, he kept his desire to dress like a young man, and also he always had a pen behind each of his ears while writing.

Zola would never accept invitations to dinner.

Oliver Wendell Holmes kept chestnuts and potatoes in his coat pockets to keep rheumatism away.

Voltaire when at leisure sharpened leadpencils and played with them.

Count Tolstoi always went barefoot and hatless. He liked French perfumes, always kept flowers on his desk as he wrote. Though very wealthy, he wore the cheapest clothes he could buy.

Sir A. Conan Doyle never wore an overcoat on the coldest day, but he would take his vest off and button up his Prince Albert coat when lecturing. He was a most enthusiastic golf player.

Bret Harte, when inspiration was upon him, would hire a cab and drive all night till the struggle for ideas was over, and then become calm enough to write. He always was very proud if taken for an Englishman.

Mr. W. Cooper gave a laughable story of the "Franks of the College life" at Gallaudet. One day a professor, who scented a smoking cigar, searched through the building; when he reached the second story he found a ladder by the wall which led the way to the attic. He suspected probably some students were enjoying a smoke up there; so he climbed up there, but found nothing. When he returned he found the ladder had disappeared.

The carpenter who was repairing the building finished his work and took the ladder away. Unfortunately the professor staid up there for two hours, frantically waving his hands to the deaf below to come to the rescue. But being deaf they did not look up or hear him.

The other pranks, which I would like to tell—but I fear this space will not allow it.

The Washington Times of November 4th had the following clipping:

KENDALL GREEN.

In 1856, Amos Kendall, who had been a prominent figure in Jackson's administration, and subsequently had undertaken the organization of the telegraph business, offered for sale houses on two-acre tracts, which he had built on a street parallel with Florida avenue and opened up through his property on the city borders and Seventh and M streets northeast. But Kendall Green, as he named the property, or Kendallville, as it was called, was not destined to be an addition to the city. For three years later he gave one of the houses as a home for the newly incorporated Columbia Institution for the deaf, dumb, and blind, and in its growth additional ground was occupied.

A Farewell Party was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Edington, November 8th, in honor of Miss Arenah Pettit, who is returning home to New Orleans, La. Prof. Harley D. Drake of Gallaudet College has taken Rev. Mr. Bryant's place as Minister in charge of the deaf mission at Baltimore.

Washington, D. C., has a good Basket Ball Team, composed Messrs. Ferguson, Scott, Sullivan, Miller and Nicol. Morton Galloway is the secretary and official scorer.

It was announced at the White House that the City of Washington, and not the District of Columbia, is the official term for the Capital of the United States. All departments and bureaus and other agencies of the federal government received from the Secretary of State an executive order announcing that the government has reverted to the use of the old name for the National Capital—City of Washington.

1947 Lamont, N. W.

Davenport, Ia.

Rock Island has announced that it is in the field for the 1924 convention of the Illinois Association of the Deaf.

We start with the best prospects and good field. Rock Island and Moline, Illinois, separated by the Mississippi River from Davenport, Iowa, being neighboring cities, extend greeting to the rest of the circle.

Rock Island Arsenal, as you probably know, is situated on an island in the Mississippi River, between the cities of Rock Island and Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Ia. It comprises about a thousand acres of land, a magnificently equipped plant representing an investment of upwards of three hundred million dollars, housing, the finest machinery human ingenuity can devise, of a value of upward of fifty million dollars.

Miss Vida Conway, the niece of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Jenniseh, is now at Rock Island. She is working at Jenniseh's studio in Moline. She likes her job very much.

John O'Hern, well known tri city mute, who has been a cigar maker for thirty-one years, laid off for several months. He is working on his aged father's farm at Dewitt, Iowa. It is reported that he is in better health now.

Lawrence Kline and Fred Miller, of McComb, Ill., visited the trities and they saw the famous Fort Armstrong on the Government Bridges.

Davenport Division, No. 59, had a Hallowe'en party in Davenport on October 29th. Every body had had a good time. Peter Aoster, of Golsburg, Ill., won a prize duck-ling for apples.

Misses Neola Quinn and Amy Vessel, of Rock Falls, Ill., were the guests at Mr. and Mrs. A. Heritage's home for two days.

Seymour Shaffer is busy working with his father as market gardener. They have have forty thousand bunches of celery.

Mr. Arthur Heritage is working at Lundberg's slipper factory. He makes 250 slippers a day on piecework.

The wife and three little boys of Mr. Arthur Johnson moved to Rock Island from Monmouth two weeks ago. Arthur is still working in Lyon Bakery in Muscatine, Ia. He comes to see his family every Saturday.

Thedeo Elvert is now in Davenport. He has been laid off from the Overland Co., at Toledo, Ohio. Miss Minnie Cannon arrived at her home in Davenport after enjoying her trip in Iowa, Minnesota and Chicago for four months.

A box social will be held November 19th, at the I. O. O. F. in Davenport, Iowa. Mr. W. Nelson, our father of the Tri-City, will have charge of this, and is going to have an auction sale for the endowment of the Iowa Association of the Deaf. Everybody welcome.

WASHINGTON-OREGON.

Cortland Greenwald is back in Portland after picking fruit at Yakima. He is batching with Mike Schlachter.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Chambers, of Spokane, a baby girl, Chehalis, 16; U. H. S. O. Highland, 0; Vancouver Baracks, 0.

Maybelle Morton Divine has come back from North-West or Kansas. Louis R. is happy. The nest on the Divine ridge farm has been feathered cozily and warmly.

C. R. Lawrence has had a busy week in his shop. Pegging away at his trade, brings in the coin sure. He is a cobbler.

Ed. Spieler worked for Claire Roeses part of the week.

The quarantine was declared off at the School. T. C. Mueller broke the P. H. Divine elder mill. So the stream of elder-thirsty visitors will stop.

Will Hunter, Dean Horn and Fred Bjorkquest, went to Portland to see California wallop Washington State.

Ed. Langlois has a setter retriever cat. It caught a partridge and held it between its paws for Ed. The pheasant had a crippled wing.

Now that the grape season is over, will Will Hunter go to angle for trout again?

The Portland Frats had a masquerade social on the 29th. Miss Lindgren loves beauty, but not indiscriminately. She admired the pretty colors and shapes of poison oak leaves. Ed. Langlois thought the same, but quick action on his part prevented her from getting poisoned.

It is November, but it is still warm, even if a little rainy. The gardens are still growing and feeding. Apples are still on the trees. Tomatoes are still ripening. Golden bantam corn still comes to the table.

Pat Connick and Dot R. Evans, a hearing lady, both of Walla Walla, will be married this week in Vancouver.

Supt. Lloyd is trying to install a deep, powerful pump, for fire protection at the school.

The Hunters will build a magnificent new home near their present cottage, according to the grapevine telegraph. The money will come from the grapes on the five-acre ranch northeast of town.

De l'Epee Statue Fund.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9, 1921.

DEAR EDITOR:—I had been watching the controversy between President Cloud of the National Association of the Deaf and a small portion of the Catholic deaf, who think they were slighted on account of their religion with no inconsiderable apprehension, as I was always opposed to the presentation and discussion of articles by any church or any religious organization at any of the conventions or future conventions.

I feel constrained to go in this dispute by virtue of my position as the Chairman of the De l'Epee Memorial Statue Committee, since Mr. Vincent Dunn declared that the Baltimore Convention of the Knights of De l'Epee had passed a motion to recall all funds collected for the Fund, and that the money be returned to the various councils, because of the alleged discrimination against the Catholic deaf. This was news to me, and also news to me that any money was collected by these societies; for I was in close touch with the movement for raising funds throughout the country.

If the statement by Mr. Dunn is true, then it would have been illegal for that convention to recall the money collected for the Fund. The best and fairest thing they at least could do was to stop collecting, but to forward the money so collected to the Treasurer of the De l'Epee Fund Committee.

The Knights of De l'Epee Society forms but a small part of the Catholic deaf in the United States, and in my experience with the Catholics at large, I always found them enthusiastic for the establishment of a memorial to the famous French teacher of the deaf, in America. The only thing they lacked was a good leader, but in time will wake up and make a potent factor in this important matter. As long as I am the Chairman, I will see that the Catholic deaf will be given a prominent part in the dedication of the memorial to De l'Epee, providing, of course, that they had first shown themselves worthy of it.

Arrangements are now being pushed by the prominent Catholics of this city and Brooklyn, whom I am encouraging as much as I can, to infuse more life and vigor into the Fund, by which a large affair in Brooklyn, to honor the birthday anniversary of the Abbe, is to take place shortly. The growth of the Fund was halted by the war, and then by the unstable conditions in this country. The coast is now clear and we will push the Fund to a glorious and successful finish.

The sentiment to honor the Abbe is improving throughout the land, and the money is coming to the Fund in an increased stream. It is a National Association of the Deaf matter, and the deaf everywhere will rally to support it, irrespective of color, creed or race.

Yours very truly,
SAMUEL FRANKENHEIM

A few words of information in a letter postal card is sufficient. We will do the best.

JUST A MOMENT, PLEASE!

Don't you want to see the deaf unit and working in common for their own interests? You probably belong to some group or society of the deaf. Is this group allied with the N. A. D.? If it is not, cannot you influence it to cooperate with the New York Branch of the National Association of the Deaf for general service? This body should be the central organization for all the various societies of the deaf in this vicinity; it is looking after your interests as well as those of all other deaf men and women. Has it not a claim, then, on your assistance?

Even if we are deaf, we all possess that special sense of mutual help—of brotherhood—which means more than mere surface geniality, or the cordial effusiveness that is assumed. It means that one has at heart the feeling which he expresses in his demeanor—that we all stand upon a level. We should heed this belief in our common humanity, and seek to be of service to our fellows. This is genuine democracy, which is at the opposite pole to aloofness.

Come and join us; at least, come to our meetings and see what is being done in your interest, and for the general good.

BASKET BALL.

The Silent Triangles of H. A. D. made easy work of the Sacred Heart Crowns, of Brooklyn, last Monday, winning by a score of 40 to 16.

The play was fairly close in the first half, which ended 23 to 11 in favor of the Triangles.

In the second half, H. Grossinger went into the Triangles line up, and from that time on it was romp. In addition to scoring fourteen points in the period, Harry Grossinger and H. Stecker all round work were the feature of the Silent Triangles.

Were you ever at a real country barn dance? Those attending the affair given by the Alphabet A. C. last Saturday evening, experienced the genuine thing, the only difference being the lack of the broad fields of yellowing pumpkins, and the closely cut stalks of wheat from the fall harvest. Otherwise the barn dance was a true representation of those held in the country. Most all came in costume, and the rube constable and his hick assistants were all present. Music for dancing was furnished by a deaf orchestra. Misses Etta Jacoby and Jennie Henry won first and second prizes for the most typical rural costumes. The raffle for the club's benefit was held last, and the winners proved to be: G. Dlugatch, $2.50 goldpiece; Mrs. Leona Gillette, Lady's umbrella; Mr. Dembo, Gents umbrella; Mr. Kostor, 5 lbs. coffee; Miss Sabine, Eversharp pencil, and Mr. Pease, box of candy.

H. A. D. NOTES.

"Armistice Day" was suitably celebrated at the Friday evening service, held on November 11th, before a large audience that fairly filled the Temple.

Dr. Thomas F. Fox discoursed most instructively on "The International Disarmament Conference" and lent vivid illustration to the comparative naval standing of the great nations, by several graphic charts which were exhibited.

At the conclusion of the H. A. D. business meeting on Sunday afternoon, the 13th, a Motion Picture show was held in the evening, attended by members and friends, numbering over 200.

The first large public social of the season will be in the form of a "Lantern Dance," to be given on Saturday evening, November 26th.

On Sunday, October 30th, Mrs. W. Devlin, of Brooklyn, gave her sister, Miss Elizabeth Cullen, a birthday surprise party, which was enjoyed by the guests.

At 5:30 P.M. a full course dinner was served. After dinner, dancing and smoking were indulged in. Then the games started "Ahl what fun!" At the eleventh hour, coffee, cream, and the birthday cake were served. Everyone ate to their heart's content, after which games and dancing were continued until early in the morning. All left together, expressing what a wonderful time they had, and wishing Elizabeth many more happy birthdays. Among those present were Mrs. J. Buckley, Mrs. W. Devlin, Mrs. S. Kaban, Mrs. E. Lawless, Misses E. Cullen, N. McGarvey, D. Devlin, P. Martin, and M. Hanz. Messrs. Jack Buckley, John O'Brien, Steve Kaban, William Devlin, Ed. Lawless, Austin Cullen, William Buckley, Bobbie Lawless and Charles Holstein.

OHIO.

(News items for this column may be sent to the Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 993 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.)

November 14, 1921.—In the Superintendent's report of the Home, in giving the amount received from sales of farm products for the year, the JOURNAL had it $123.62. Were those figures correct it would be a poor showing indeed. However, real figures are $12321.62, and to which should be added $29.10 taken in from meals furnished, giving a total therefore $1261.72 earned at the Home.

We give below the Annual Report of the Treasurer, Rev. C. W. Charles, to the Board. Because of the men's new building and the purchase of additional land, the expenditures for the year have been large, but the amount of funds on hand is large.

Here is the

The Drive Committee reported the amount they had received from the captains, and the same handed to the treasurer. A total of $20,667.91.

The School was dismissed yesterday, because of Armistice Day. A steady downpour of rain, most of the day prevented pupils from attending the parade.

The teachers were excused from teaching their Sunday School Classes tomorrow; instead there will be a union of the classes in chapel, and the exercises conducted by the high class members.

There was a light coat of snow on the ground Thursday morning, but it soon disappeared when Old Sol came forth. This morning a heavier one appeared, and the air was of the wintry variety.

The last meeting of the Columbus Advance Society barely showed a quorum present. A full attendance is requested at the meeting of December 6th, as the annual election of officers takes place then, and other important business to be acted upon.

The purchasing committee was authorized to make the usual outlay for the Society's annual Christmas gifts to the residents of the Home for Deaf.

Mr. W. C. Winemiller entertained the members with an interesting talk on Colorado, Pike's Peak, climate and productions. Absent members lost a good treat thereby.

The Columbus Wednesday Evening Club meeting, which are held for their pleasure, propose to give the old people at the Home some entertainment also. To this end, they have decided to raise a fund with which to purchase a moving pictures apparatus and present it to the Home. They will raise the money by giving parties and entertainments. They will give an oyster supper at the Home for this purpose, November 26th, at 7 P.M. Tickets will be thirty-five cents. It is hoped a good crowd will go up that evening from here.

Mr. James Trainor, late of Akron, who has been in Columbus since October 28th, left Tuesday morning for Portsmouth, O., and may not be back here again for a long time.

Last Friday, Mrs. Jones gave a dinner in honor of her guest, Miss Althea Hannaford, of Toledo. Others present were Mrs. Callison and Misses Iva Lohr, Abbie Krauss and Dorothy Durrant.

The 2d O. S. S. D. football team had the Thurston, O., Barbers on the School's grounds. The latter were all big fellows, and one would have thought they would shave a big score from the young boys, but it turned out otherwise, and when the battle was over the Thurston team had 20 points shaved from it to their O. A. B. G.

PITTSBURGH.

The Pittsburgh Branch of the N. A. D. met October 22d, to transact necessary business and to decide on the form of entertainment for Gallaudet Day, December 10th. The Branch had previously decided to have a banquet annually on December 10th, or as near that date as possible. The question now was whether to have the banquet, or some other form of entertainment, to express our esteem and respect for the memory of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet. After a good deal of desultory talk it was decided that the banquet was the proper thing, and a committee was chosen to make arrangements for the "best ever." The committee has arranged for a "homemade banquet" to be served in the rooms of the 8th Street R. P. Church, December 10th at 5:30 P.M. sharp. They are expecting a large turnout.

The Branch decided to turn over two-thirds of the money in the hands of the branch to the Endowment Fund of the N. A. D. It will amount to over $70.

Another event of special interest to the local deaf was a farewell social tendered Prof. Linnaeus Roberts, who had been a teacher at the Edgewood school for a third of a century, and had acted as interpreter at various times and places, but chiefly at the First Baptist Church, Bellefield Avenue. He leaves towards the last of this month, to make his future home in California. There was a large gathering to shake hands with their old teacher and to bid him goodbye. The evening has spent in quiet converse, interspersed with games and contests excited the greatest interest. In this, each person was served with a stick of chewing gum, and told to model some animal or object with the gum, when it became soft enough after a moment's chewing.

When the objects were collected there was quite a display of models. Many were good, but the judges decided that Mrs. George Blackburn had produced the best work—a butterfly. Mr. Bosworth took the second prize, an owl.

Refreshments were served in the shape of ice-cream, cake and coffee, and as a finale, a purse of $20.00 was presented to the Mr. Roberts to use as he saw fit, as a token of the regard in which he was held by his old pupils and friends.

Mr. Roberts was also honored with a course dinner, as a "send off," by the teachers and officers of the Institution where he had worked so long, Friday evening, Nov. 11th. This also proved to be a "feast of reason and a flow of soul," as the committee in charge spared no pains to make the occasion something worth while—something the recipient might remember as he journeyed to the West. At this dinner there were a few of Mr. Roberts' old pupils, now employed at the Institution. Here again Mr. Roberts was presented with a purse, with the injunction to eat, drink and be merry, as long as the cash lasted.

The Pittsburgh Division, No. 36, N. F. S. D., had a hallowe'en masquerade at their hall October 22d. About the largest crowd in the history of the Pittsburgh Frats was attracted on this occasion. "They said" there were some very notable "make-ups" at this meet and much jollification was indulged in. Prizes were awarded, but we failed to get the names of the lucky ones.

Clifford Davis has been seen on the street of Wilkesburg again lately. He was laid off at Akron along with others, and so came home to wait for something to turn up. He may have a chance to return to Akron when business picks up.

John Rosensteel was in town again last Sunday, driving his trusty Ford. It is quite a trip from Ebersburg, but John seems to enjoy the "run," especially since the roads have been improved so much.

The following was contributed from New Castle:

"Mrs. Catharine Cartwright (nee Catharine Lewis), age 33, wife of Alfred Cartwright, died at 9 o'clock A.M. June 29th, 1921, at the family residence, 519 Tyndal St., New Castle, Pa., death being caused by a complication of diseases. Besides her husband, she left one daughter, Elizabeth. Mrs. Cartwright was educated at the Swansboro School for Deaf, in Wales, coming here with her folks in 1899.

"Mr. Cartwright wishes here to express his appreciation for the kindness of friends, neighbors and employees of the Carnegie Steel Mill, for the use of autos and floral tributes on the occasion of his wife's demise.

"On Wednesday, September 28th, 1921, at 8 o'clock P.M., in the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. C. A. Randles officiating, the marriage of Mrs.

Gormley Dillion, of St. Louis, Mo., and Alfred Benjamin Cartwright, was solemnized. The bride wore a black satin dress and had a corsage of white roses. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright left on a wedding trip in the West. On their return they took up their residence at 519 Tyndal Street.

"Mr. Cartwright was out of work for three months, but was glad to start again a few weeks ago at the Carnegie Steel Mill."

FANWOOD.

On Armistice Day, November 11th, after a short exhortation by Principal Gardner, followed by Dr. Fox and Prof. Jones, in which the deep significance of the "Unknown Soldier" was explained, the pupils were allowed to go to their homes till Sunday evening. In accordance with the proclamation of the President of the United States, dinner was delayed for three minutes, to allow the household to stand at attention from 12 to 12:02.

The following item is taken from the Spokes, a publication published in the interest of the Rotary Club:

"The band from the New York Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb played several selections during the luncheon. Their leader is to be congratulated upon their splendid work."

On November 4th, Dr. Charles A. Leale, a Director, who is Chairman of the Committee of Instruction, visited the Institution.

Mrs. LeGrand Lockwood and Mrs. Robert Nicol, of the Ladies Committee, were recent visitors.

Mr. Robert G. Hone, a member of the Board of Directors, was a visitor on November 5th.

The service in the chapel on November 6th was conducted by Prof. Frank Thomason.

A half holiday was given to all on Election Day.

On Election Day, November 8th, the gymnasium was crowded with visitors. Two basket ball games were played. Fanwood Senior and Junior teams met the Alumni Senior and Junior teams. The games were interesting and thrilling. These were the first outside games played here this term, and all were satisfied that the Fanwood's teams this year were the best in many a year.

The first game was with the Juniors Donnelly, the captain, caged the first ball, which was followed by many more. When the time was up for the first half, much to our amazement, the Fanwood Juniors, led by the score of 27 to 5. In the second half, the Alumni Juniors were outplayed, so the game ended in perfect triumph.

The next game was with the Fanwood and Alumni Seniors. At first it looked as if the game was going to be evenly fought, but at the close of the first half the score stood 21 to 15, in favor of the Fanwood Seniors.

The second half began with the Fanwood handicapped, on account of Mulford spraining his knee, but this did not prove a very serious drawback, as the Fanwood players played their hardest, and finally won by the score of 41 to 24. This may seem to have been a one-sided contest. The Fanwood Alumni Seniors had in Uhl and Malloy two stars, who did fine guard work, but the fine team work of the Fanwoods, who had been drilled for the game, was too much to overcome.

The line-up and score of the two games follows:

Fanwood, Jr. (56)	Alumni, Jr. (8)
Donnelly, L.F.	B. Cohen
Pokorny, R.F.	Schnapp, Belsky
Lazarowitz, C.	Jampol, Dembo
Finkelstein, L.G.	Field Goals, Fanwood, Jr.—Donnelly, 12; Pokorny, 3; Lazarowitz, 10; Finkelstein, 1; Jaffre, 1. Alumni, Jr.—Schnapp, 1; Belsky, 1.
Field Goals, Fanwood, Jr.—Donnelly, 12; Pokorny, 3; Lazarowitz, 10; Finkelstein, 1; Jaffre, 1. Alumni, Jr.—Schnapp, 1; Dembo, 3.
Substitutions, Fanwood, Jr.—Krauss for Pokorny, Zadra for Finkelstein; Alumni, Jr.—Hoffman for Schnapp.
Fanwood, Sr. (41)	Alumni, Sr. (24)
Bylinsky, L.F.	Capt. Stecker
Schnapp, R.F.	Sussman
Whalen, C.	Uhl
Mulford, Capt. L.G.	Schnapp
Jensen, R.G.	Malloy

PORT JERVIS.

Mr. Morris McMickle, of Middletown, N. Y., and Miss Kate Blackburn, of Port Jervis, N. Y., were married on Saturday afternoon, November 12th, at 4 o'clock. Rev. Henry L. Lambdin, of Drew Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. They went to Baltimore, Md., on their wedding trip. They graduated from the Fanwood School, Mr. McMickle has been thirty-five years in Carpenter Company.

Misses Bessie Phillips and Harriet Gallagher, of Port Jervis, N. Y., are two young ladies who live in the above city.

LOS ANGELES.

Oct. 15—Following ye scribe's birthday of the eleventh inst., Discovery Day came the next day. State and County offices and banks observed the day by closing their doors, although the majority of local business concerns planned to remain open as usual. It is a long way back to Columbus, but we always commemorate his Discovery. The day slipped away as quiet as Admission Day did.

The local Division No. 27, held a regular monthly meeting last Saturday night, all members being present, except a few who were kept away by illness, night work, and business pressure. The meeting went on smoothly until the time of adjournment. The next meeting will take place in a larger hall at the same building, owing to too many members, but had to change its date and will be on first Tuesday of each month. The election of officers is to take place at the opening of the new hall, and will occasion some excitement among the members as to who are to be elected to serve for the ensuing year.

All the Silent Angelinos are wearing broad smiles today, the reason being Los Angeles won the pennant of the Pacific Coast League. By the way, we do not yet forget that we suffered defeat by the northern silents in a game of baseball here a few years ago. Now we turn the tables on them by the victory of Los Angeles over San Francisco and Oakland.

In history of baseball, the excitement over the world's series at New York went up to the highest degree; because the pennant winners of American League and National League are the home teams of the great metropolis and the Menzel brothers played face to face in the series and Babe Ruth of the Yankees, the home-run King of the world. The series ended yesterday after eight games were played, and the Giants are now the Kings of the World. We are very proud of the Menzel brothers and Rawlings, who are all residents of Los Angeles.

The Winter League Season started last Saturday and goes on for ten weeks. It is really an opportunity for the base-ball fans to have a glimpse of Cobb, Hellman and Sisler, all of American League, and Hornsby, of the National League. There has been a very good attendance since the season began, on account of the appearance of the famous players in the league.

M. J. Matheis pitches a good game in the presence of a small crowd, but he gets rattled when there is a big crowd. He can pitch right ball before small or large crowd either, if he is under the control of an experienced catcher. Ye scribe, who used to be a catcher, himself agrees with this.

It is a pleasure to mention that M. J. Matheis has the distinction of having recently taken part in Charles Ray's play, called "The Midnight Bell." The silent actor had a handsome pay, including a cafeteria meal for his ten minutes' work. Therefore G. Radmond is not the only one that took part in a film studio, though he played with Charles Chaplin.

Mr. O. J. Harris started on his two weeks' vacation a few days ago. The first thing he took a boat out to Catalina and enjoyed his recreation there. Ye scribe wonders if he got seasick on the boat. Mr. Harris has planned to visit every point of interest in Southern California during his vacation.

Miss Sprangler, the secretary of Los Angeles Silent Club, is now at the Catholic Hospital suffering with ear trouble. That is the reason she has been absent from the club for some time. She graduated from deaf school at Winnipeg, Canada.

Mr. Adolph Hartman recently received a temporary lay off from the Goodyear Tire and Rubber plant. He thinks he will have to return to his former home, unless something better turns up. It will be pretty hard for him and his wife to leave their many friends here.

Another late arrival among the deaf is Mr. Carl Saunders, who breezed into Los Angeles from Seattle, Washington. He has seen nothing to compare with this locality. In consequence, he has made his permanent home here.

Latest reports received are to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Amundsen are now in San Francisco as their permanent abode. Mr. Amundsen, who is a former Angelino, has a lucrative position with the Hartsook studio there.

Leon Fisk outwitted those who believed the rumor that he was a benedict, and tried to congratulate him at the ball game at Exposition Park and the picnic at Brookside Park, by hopping out to Catalina Island. He is still a bachelor as before. Miss Roy returned home from her vacation trip up north, and took the rumor good-naturedly and is still a maid, too. Therefore, the rumor went up into smoke.

One Sunday morning the Studebaker Co. team (speaking) had a hard time getting the better of the Silent's team in a basketball game, the score being seven to four. The hitting of Samuelson, the fielding of Doodson and the pitching of Kett were the features of the game. The same teams will play another next week. Mr. M. J. Matheis, the manager of the Silents, seemed as if he was ambitious to be a second McGraw.

Mr. W. Phelps recently bought the corner of Vermont and Santa Monica Boulevard, and is improving the property with a building of seven stores, in addition to the list of houses he owns.

Miss Cora Burson, sister of Mr. Frank Burson, is back in town once more, after an extended absence in Montana. She seems to be very happy to be back in the land of sunshine and flowers. There seems no change in her.

Another addition to the colony of the deaf, which is steadily growing larger, is Miss Mary Miller, who came here direct from Pittsburgh. Her father and brother came later. They all have claimed Los Angeles as their permanent abode.

Miss L. Garrett's father, who is the president of a bank in Kansas, took advantage of the convention of the bankers here to visit her and her sister, and will return east the last of this month. During his stay in Los Angeles he bought a new four-room bungalow for his daughters, on the corner of West 41st and Hoover Streets. The daughters are very fortunate in having a home of their own. It was very kind of their father to do this for them.

Laguna Beach and San Juan Capistrano were the interesting places where Mr. and Mrs. A. Hultene and Mr. and Mrs. Hawichorst visited all day last Sunday, in the latter's auto. They brought some Indian antiques home from the latter place, where the oldest mission is. The mantels in their homes are being adorned by the antiques.

Mrs. W. E. Gore, of Millbrae, Cal., has been in Los Angeles for the past three weeks, visiting her relatives and old friends. She expects to return home in time for her turkey dinner. Mrs. Gore and ye scribe used to "make pies" at the Berkeley school for a number of years.

Having rented his handsome bungalow to Mr. and Mrs. Barthe and Mr. and Mrs. Clements, who agreed to live together, Mr. and Mrs. Hartman returned to their old home in Hollister. As soon as something better turns up, they may be with us once more.

Mr. O. J. Harris finished his two weeks' vacation and enjoyed it exceedingly, especially at Santa Barbara, where he spent three days visiting with Mr. Waters. They met on the street there by chance, and had a pleasant time together, until Mr. Harris returned home to take up his duties with the City Water Department.

Having rented his home to a doctor, Mr. S. Gilmore and family had to move into a new bungalow, which is not so big as their old home. Therefore, Mrs. Gilmore is quite relieved from her duties pertaining to housework.

He younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett is visiting them, and expects to return east to continue his work in University. Having secured a position here their elder son will not part with his beloved parents any more.

What has become of Mr. Frank Herrig? He left here for his home in Kansas last year, and since then we have heard no word from him. We would like to know how he gets along, and if he is coming back to Los Angeles any more.

E. M. PRICE.

The Important New Novelties in "Get Together."

Charles Dillingham, whose Hippodrome policy has been to add new interest to his great productions in the big playhouse from time to time, by the addition of new novelties and new features to its varied entertainment, on Monday will inaugurate the eleventh week of "Get Together," his seventh annual wonder show, by adding to the already greatly diversified entertainment three new novelties. These novelties will include the Graf Trio, a group of Tyrolean novelty entertainers secured by Mr. Dillingham's European agent, who come to the Hippodrome for their first American appearance, in accordance with Mr. Dillingham's policy of bringing to America the best of the European variety offerings. The second is Bagonghi, the midget equestrian comedian, a popular center-ring feature of the Barnum Circus, secured by arrangement with John Ringling, while the third innovation will be a new special pre-release comedy motion picture, given its first showing in the United States and featuring Clyde Cook in "The Chauffeur."

Mr. Dillingham announces a continuation of the Fokine-Fokina ballet, "The Thunder Bird" and the ice ballet. Charlotte, the incomparable queen of all skaters, Katie Schmit, Howard Nicholson, Paul Kreckow, Steele and Winslow the comedy skaters, and international ballet of more than 100 skaters, as well as Bert Levy, Ferry Corvey, the Three Bobs and their marvelous crowd "Jocko," Marceline and Power's Performing Elephants.

Matinees of "Get Together" are given daily, while the prices have been reduced to a scale one-half that in vogue last season.
